

LETTER DEMANDS MONEY

C. Lazzaroni of Waukegan, is Recipient of a Most Threatening Letter

DEMAND WAS FOR $4,000

Second Cousin of Mr. Lazzaroni Suspected of Deed—Chicago Police are Working on the Case

Coupled with the sensational statement to the effect that the life of Charlotte Lazzaroni, an eighteen year old young woman living in Waukegan, had been threatened if her father, C. Lazzaroni, did not turn over a sum of money to the Black Hand, comes the equally startling statement from members of the girl's family, that it is their belief that the letter was not sent out by some unknown member of the Black Hand, but that, startling as it may seem, it was sent by a second cousin of the girl's father, who had formerly made threats of violence.

Investigation into the case would seem to show that there was some mistake made with regard to the name, for instead of the girl's name being "Charlotte" as alleged in the letter, Mrs. Lazzaroni is quite certain that her daughter Olga was meant in the threat. She was recently married to Tony Lencioni of Highland Park, where she is living at present. The mother can attribute no cause for the threat to have been made on her daughter's life for as she said, she did not know that she had an enemy in the world.

According to the story told by the Lazzaroni family, their second cousin came to this country a few years ago and at once sought their aid. His wife died a short time before and he had been left with the care of two small boys.

Thus it was, according to the story that is told by the Lazzaroni family, that he was taken in and cared for. It seems that he was not satisfied with this and that he was ever on the lookout for trouble.

In the store owned by C. Lazzaroni at that time there was a young man working by the name of Rafael Gomboni, it is said that the cousin envied the position and sought in every way in his power to get him discharged in order that he might get the place.

It is said that he complained to his cousin that Gomboni was eating up too much candy and that he was smoking the best cigars in the store. Mr. Lazzaroni, the proprietor, did not pay any attention to this for a long time because he understood the motive that prompted it.

At last, it is said, the cousin who wanted the position, broke up some of the best cigars and throwing them away, cast the suspicion upon Gomboni. The ruse worked and Gomboni was discharged, the position going to the plotting cousin.

Everything went along all right for a time but at last he seemed to tire of work and it is said that he did not pay attention to the business. Meanwhile his two small sons were working in the store and all were living at the home of the cousin and were not paying any board or lodging.

Mr. Lazzaroni at last tired of this and told his cousin that he did not need his services any longer. Then the cousin is said to have flown into a rage and demanded the money for the work his two sons had done in the store. Mr. Lazzaroni said he was perfectly willing to do this providing his cousin would pay for their board during the time that they had been staying at his home.

A lawsuit followed but nothing ever came of it.

The cousin left the city soon after that and is said to have made threats before leaving that he would get even with them for not giving him money.

They say that he is desperate and that he would stop at nothing to gain his ends, when he is in need of money as they think he is at present. They say he would not stop to consider that he is placing his own life in danger. The family will take precautions to see that the daughter is hidden for a time at least.

Pitch-Inners and Crawl-Outers.
There are two classes of people in the world, the Pitch-Inners and the Crawl-Outers. We do not commonly use the term, yet everyone will recognize the faithfulness of the classification. Test it. Present a good cause, a hard duty, a difficult proposition (everything these days is a "proposition") to a group of men. They will divide like oil and water. There will be a minority who will discern the opportunity and crawl in; the majority most likely will crawl out—Zion's Herald

FALL PROVES TO BE FATAL

August Alstrom of Waukegan, Falls While Descending Stairs

August Alstrom, said to be a well known resident of Waukegan, fell down a flight of stairs leading up into the Nordstrom tailoring establishment, just north of the city offices on Washington street, Friday evening near 7:30, the injuries thus received causing his death at the hospital early Saturday morning.

The aged man, according to Mr. Nordstrom, had spent a few moments with him and had started to descend the stairs when he tripped and fell headlong down to the first floor, where he was later picked up and carried into the tailoring establishment by employees of the saloon on the first floor, and Nordstrom.

He was later placed in the Larson & Conrad ambulance and conveyed to the hospital.

Upon his arrival at the hospital, Drs. Knight and Boynton were in attendance, and although every means known to medical science was used, internal injuries were found which later caused the man's death.

Alstrom was a widower, his wife having died a few years prior to his death. He has one son living on George avenue who is employed at the machine shop of the American Steel and Wire Company.

It is thought the man's death was brought on by a fractured skull.

MARRIED AT CROWN POINT IN OCTOBER

Mr. William Barthel and Miss Myrtle Turnock, both well known young people of this vicinity, sprung quite a surprise on their many friends the latter part of last week by announcing that they had taken upon themselves the matrimonial vows, the nuptial knot having been tied at Crown Point, Ind., on the third day of October, 1907.

The young people decided to keep the matter a secret for a time, and so well did they succeed that not even their immediate families had an inkling of the affair until the time came when they chose to take others into their confidence. At first their friends were inclined to believe the story only a joke, but when it was confirmed by the contracting parties they lost no time in showering congratulations upon the happy couple.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Turnock of Salem, and is a most popular and accomplished young lady and has a host of friends who wish her a long and happy wedded life. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Barthel of Antioch and is a young man of exemplary habits and well worthy of the bride he has chosen.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Barthel will reside at the home of the bride's parents but expect to begin housekeeping at this place in the near future.

The News joins with their many friends in wishing them many long years of joy and happiness together.

L. E. LAMB OF CAMP LAKE DIES FROM OPERATION

Anent Wisdom.

It hath been said that "wise men say nothing in dangerous times," and Swift, the greatest of English satirists, with prevision, remarked that "wisdom is a hen, whose cackling we must value and consider because it is attended with an egg, but then, lastly, it is a nut which, unless you choose with judgment, may cost you a tooth and pay you with nothing but a worm."

DID HE ATTEMPT SUICIDE?

John Clinton, Formerly of Zion Found in Hotel Room With Gas Jet Open

IS BELIEVER IN "FAITH CURE"

His Story as Brought Out by Interview Throws Little Light on the Cause of Condition

John Clinton, a former Zion resident and a staunch believer in the "faith cure," was found in an unconscious condition in one of the rooms on the third floor of the Edmund Hotel, Waukegan, Friday evening by Officer Neeley of the Waukegan police force.

Clinton, according to the hotel register, made his appearance at the hotel on Thursday evening at about 10 o'clock and applied for a room. He was given the room on the third floor and departed for it, where it is thought he went directly to bed.

Friday morning Clinton failed to answer the call for breakfast and but little thought of this as when he had taken the room he did not leave any directions for the night clerk.

At noon he failed again to make any appearance and again at night. After the last call for supper Captain Sapli of the hotel became somewhat alarmed, according to reports, and not long after this one of the lady attendants at the hotel is reported as having notified the desk clerk that she believed there was a leak in one of the gas pipes on the third floor, as she smelled gas. The clerk investigated but found everything all right, with the exception of the room that had been given to Clinton.

The police were notified and officer Neeley sent to the hotel. Upon his arrival the door of the room was forced and Clinton was found in an unconscious condition, a gas jet in the room having been turned wide open.

The Larson & Conrad ambulance was summoned and the unconscious man taken to the Jane McAlister hospital, where Dr. Gourley was waiting.

After two hours of hard work the victim was awakened and Saturday morning, when seen by a reporter, he stated that he did not know how it all happened and that he did not know whether he had turned the gas on in the room or not.

Clinton stated that he had worked all winter for Mr. Shawley, who operates a farm west of Zion city, and that he had left his bed and board just the day before. He had contemplated leaving for Zion City where he has made his home for the last three years.

Clinton left the hospital early Saturday afternoon upon the consent of Dr. Gourley, although he had before made the statement that he would not stay in the place a minute longer, as he did not believe in them or in physicians.

On first learning of the accident, people around Waukegan feared that the man attempted suicide, but facts look somewhat suspicious, although his statement may be correct.

MAY DEPORT ALIENS

Law Says if They Become Paupers in First Year Here They Must Go Back

Waukegan Has Many

Deposit Money With Bankers of Own Kind Who Ship Savings Back to Old Country For Owner

With the factories running short time and short handed aliens of Waukegan who are not skilled mechanics but are employed as laborers and roustabouts in factories are unable to obtain employment and as a result they become dependent on the city or county.

There is talk of deporting the many aliens who are dependent on the city or county. There is a law which compels the steamship companies that bring these people to this country to return them if within the first year of their residence they become impoverished. It is claimed that if these aliens who are dependent upon the city or county were rounded up and sent to their native homes the city or county would be ahead.

When these people have work, they send nearly all of their earnings to the old country and there it is placed in banks to their credit to await the return of the owner who only goes to America to earn a thousand or two dollars and then returns to his native land to live in comfort for the balance of his life. Out of their wages, be it $1.50 or $1.75 a day, these aliens keep barely enough to live on in the most economical style and the balance is placed with a banker to be sent to the old country. When these aliens are thrown out of employment they are without money or food and they call on the city or county to aid them even though they have money on deposit in banks in their native country.

ITALIAN THUG ROBS FARMER

Works Two Weeks as Hired Man and Robs While Pretending Illness

Charles Barnstable, a prominent farmer northeast of Gages Lake, last week lost by robbery checks and currency to the amount of $200 and the police of Lake county are looking for a short dark man with a dark mustache and light cap.

Two weeks ago Barnstable hired an Italian through a Chicago agency. The man gave his name as Barry and acted all right until the robbery took place. Barry was employed as a farm hand and around 2 o'clock, while working with Barnstable, he complained of feeling ill and declared that he would stop work and go up to the house.

Barnstable agreed that it would be all right and the Italian went to the farm house. When Barnstable came in at 3 or 4 and went up to the house to find out how his man was, he found that the invalid had cleared out and with him had gone $200 in bills and checks.

The police of Grayslake and surrounding villages were busy at night on the case, but no trace of the Italian was found and he is still at large.

Mr. Barnstable found his pocket book Friday in his own barn. Sixty dollars in cash was gone, but checks and papers remained and Mr. Barnstable is congratulating himself that Barry, the alleged thief, did not fare luckier.

BACHELOR GIRLS GIVE LEAP YEAR PARTY

On Monday evening of this week, the bachelor girls of Antioch gave a leap year party to a few of their gentlemen friends, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Webb on Maine street.

Extensive preparations were made to entertain the guests in a manner befitting the occasion and the evening was one long to be remembered by those present.

It being leap year the young ladies were according to custom, the escorts of the evening and each one decided who their partner might be by drawing a name from a hat. In order that their ladies might be conducted to the party in proper style and splendor they procured the services of a coupe and a liveried coachman, and each one in turn called for the lady of their choice.

Some very elaborate costumes were purchased for the occasion, among the most noticeable being that of Miss G. Gollwitzer who was dressed in green and yellow and wore a stunning picture hat of white daisies. Also Miss C. Lux who wore an imported Parisian gown of brown cloth completed with a large black creation trimmed with sweeping brown plumes. And also Miss B. Ames who was handsomely attired in black broadcloth and displayed a most beautifully marcelled coiffure. The other young ladies, among whom were the Misses C. Webb, J. Brogan, C. Brogan, E. Sabin and B. Overton, were all beautifully gowned and conducted themselves in a most lady like manner. The young gentlemen appearing in swell, evening suits of black broadcloth.

The evening was most pleasantly spent in cards, music and dancing, and about midnight a bounteous luncheon was served after which some time was spent in music and social conversation. At a late hour all departed for their homes declaring this party to have been the most enjoyable of the season, and hoping that the bachelor girls might see fit to give many more, before the close of 1908.

TREASURER AMES GOES AFTER CONVENTION

When County Treasurer Fred Ames left Sunday for Springfield to attend the convention of state treasurers. He went armed "for bears." He went there determined to have the convention vote to hold its first formal convention following organization, in Waukegan next year.

He carried a letter from the Waukegan Commercial club asking him to do what he could to get the convention here and he also carried a bunch of badges, "Waukegan 1909" which he was to give to delegates and ask them to work for Waukegan as the meeting place. He felt that Waukegan stood a good chance of landing the honor.

Abelard and Heloise.

Heloise was noted as much for her intellectual ability as for her personal beauty. She was familiar with the literature of four or five languages—Italian, French, Greek, Latin and Hebrew. Her knowledge was remarkable, her conversational powers were brilliant. It was her bright mind and varied learning that first attracted the attention of Abelard. Abelard died 1142, Heloise 1164. First buried at St. Marcel, Abelard's remains were shifted several times, but finally reached the well-known tomb at Pere-la-Chaise, wherein also rest the ashes of Heloise. —New York American

FIND A CHECK CASH IT

Brothers Think They Have a Right to Paper They Found

ARRESTED IN WAUKEGAN

Police Make Clever Capture by Getting the Alleged Culprits out of Bed at Two in the Morning

Finding a check for $135, along the Northwestern railroad tracks the day a Waukegan mail pouch missed the train catcher and was ground to pieces beneath the wheels of the train, Frank Stasiulewicz three weeks ago took his brother John and left for Chicago where he spent $51 for three suits of clothes at a store kept by E. J. Lehman on Ashland avenue between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets.

Saturday morning at 2 o'clock the two brothers were arrested at their rooms at 223 South Sheridan road and are now facing trial on the serious charge of having obtained money under false pretenses.

The check that Frank Stasiulewicz picked up on or near February 11, the day the pouch was wrecked, was for $135 and is said to have been made out by William Watson to his mother, Mrs. Watson. It was not indorsed properly.

When the two brothers offered the check to Lehman three weeks ago he ran with it to a neighboring bank, where it was examined, it is said, and declared all right, so Lehman cashed it for the $51 sale and gave the two men the change.

Friday the check came back from the bank as valueless and then Lehman got busy.

Friday afternoon he telephoned to Chief Tyrrell and filed the information he had at hand with the local police. He knew the two brothers for years he said, as they belonged to the same lodge as he did, the Knights of Columbus in Chicago, and that is why when they offered the check he trusted them.

He came to Waukegan on a late train Friday night and as a result the two culprits were routed out of their beds and put under arrest early Saturday morning by Captain Vogel.

Frank Stasiulewicz, who is 27, at once admitted finding the check on the tracks when interviewed. He said he thought that because he had found it and could not find the owner he had a right to cash it and spend the proceeds. He has been in this country nine months and is a Lithuanian.

The brother John is 17 and has been in this country three years. He said he thought it was all right to cash the check and take the money and joined in with his brother in spending it.

The younger of the two brothers declared that he too had picked up papers and letters along the tracks and that they are home in his trunk. Saturday morning, accompanied by a police officer, he was forced to raid his own trunk and the papers, which are believed to be of value, are in the hands of the police.

The two prisoners were removed to Chicago where warrants will be issued against them and they will be tried.

MARBLE SUED FOR $20,000

Monday Attorney B. H. Miller of Waukegan, filed suit for George W. Koeth, village clerk of Fox Lake, against Converse Marble, of that place, asking $20,000 damages for libel.

The case is the outgrowth of the references made by Marble at the time the action was started against the village officers whereby a demand was made to open up the records, etc., and Koeth claims Marble said things libelous against him.

DIRECTORS HELD NOT LIABLE.

Clear Cut Decision Made by Judge Thompson at Charleston.

Charleston.—The only federal jurist ever under indictment in a criminal case, Peter S. Grosscup, was freed from that position when Judge Thompson denounced the action of the Coles county grand jury in holding the directors of the Mattoon City railway liable for the deaths of 13 persons in a wreck on their line as unjustified and unwarranted.

In a sweeping oral opinion, based upon broad and general grounds as well as upon legal faults, he quashed all the indictments against the officers and directors of the corporation.

Because of technical errors Judge Thompson also discharged the two motormen who were in control of the ill-fated cars; but because of the public standing of the directors and the legal issues as to their responsibility their release is regarded as the most important phase of the decision.

FOR PERFECT SOUP

IT MUST NEVER BE ALLOWED TO BOIL HARD.

Old-Time Recipe for One Kind That Has Been Highly Praised—Devilled Kidneys and Other Chafing Dish Specialties.

In Goldsmith's amusing essay on that imaginary character, Mr. The Clobber, he speaks of his fondness of the good things of this life. He loved good clothes and good living, and was not too particular how he obtained them. In his old age he ate oysters and green peas and drank gravy soup when he could get it.

To make this soup take six pounds of shin of beef and a large knuckle of veal, to which quantity of meat allow six quarts of boiling water. If any trimmings of poultry can be had so much the better. For the flavor there must be two slices of lean ham of the best quality. Further, have a quarter of a pound of butter, four carrots, four onions, one turnip, a small head of celery, one blade of mace, a bunch of savory herbs, five cloves, nine pepper-corns; salt to taste and add three good lumps of sugar. Cut the meat into pieces of three inches square, put the butter into the soup boiler and slightly brown the meat, stirring up the pieces from below with a wooden spoon. Be very careful not to let them burn in the least. When slightly browned stir in the boiling water, and as the steam rises at once take it off.

When no more steam is thrown up put in the vegetables and spices. The soup must now simmer gently for six hours, and there should be no further stirring up from the bottom. When the six hours have passed remove it from the stove, let it settle, skim off the fat as well as can be done now, and then pass the soup through a cloth or strainer. Every particle of fat can be taken off when quite cold. Now carefully take off the clear soup without moving the sediment that remains, which should not be wasted, but used for gravies for poultry.

The art of making good soup is in never allowing it to boil hard. Flavoring is one essential, and if in making this soup both be attended to all will agree that Mr. The Clobber was a man of good taste.

Devilled kidneys are prepared by taking two fresh, firm lamb kidneys, washing and skinning them, cutting them open in the usual way and fastening the sides back with tiny skewers. Then take a lump of butter and heat in a chafing dish until it is very hot. Put in the kidneys, cook them three or four minutes, turning from side to side. Then turn the slit side up and put a bit of butter in the center of each, sprinkle over a little salt, some paprika, mustard and chopped parsley.

Risotto is made by using a quarter pound of cooked rice, one small onion finely chopped, butter, some grated cheese, pepper and salt. Put the onion in the chafing dish with the butter and fry until it begins to brown. Then add the rice and a cup of good soup stock. When the stock has been absorbed and the rice seems tender but firm, stir in the salt, pepper and cheese. A little garlic is said to improve the flavor of the risotto, which is an Italian dish.

Shrimps cooked with rice are appetizing and easily prepared. Take half a pint of fresh shrimps and pick them over carefully. Melt a large piece of butter in the chafing dish, stir in half an onion chopped fine, add a half cup of cold boiled rice, half a cup of sweet cream, the shrimps, a tablespoonful of tomato ketchup and let the whole cook gently for a few minutes, then serve in hot plates or on crisp slices of toast.

Macaroni De Bos.

One pint of oysters, one stock of celery, liquor from one can of tomatoes, one-half pound of American cheese, one package of macaroni, one-quarter pound butter, salt and pepper to taste. Boil the macaroni for 30 minutes, blanch in cold water; prepare liquor from oysters and tomatoes, cut celery fine and boil until celery is tender. Throw in the oysters and allow the edges to curl. Have macaroni in large baking dish and put all together. Put on broken or grated cheese and mix thoroughly. Place little lumps of butter over the top and allow to bake to a golden brown.

When the Clock Stops.

Take it down, screw off the back, blow in it to take out some of the dust. See that the pendulum is straight, have a little kerosene in a cup, dip a straw in the oil so that about one drop will adhere to it. Apply the oil to the frame where the axle comes through, putting about one drop on each axle at back and face of works. Also put a few drops on the small wheel where the pendulum swings from. Screw on back, set clock back in place, start it, and it will run for a year or two.

Report of Chicago State Banks.

An echo of the financial storm is found in the recapitulation of the condition of the state banks in the city of Chicago, issued by State Auditor McCullough. The statement shows the condition of the 44 state banks in Chicago on February 15 last. As compared with the affairs of the same institutions November 19 last, a decrease of $26,829,210 is shown in the aggregate loans and discounts, which on February 15 were $228,060,309. The trouble experienced by the Chicago banks in securing cash from their eastern depositaries is shown in the increase in the amount due them from other banks. On February 15 the amount due from national banks was $35,745,935, an increase of $11,595,573. In addition there was due the Chicago institutions from state banks and bankers $16,324,353, an increase of $4,868,031. While the deposits fell off approximately $13,000,000 during the flurry, the surplus fund was increased $1,593,881.

Lawyers Get Evidence.

Attorneys for the state in the suit against the Economy Light and Power company are busy taking depositions relative to the case. Mr. Fitch of the attorney general's office, Merritt Starr, special counsel, and former Congressman Reeves are busy engaged in securing evidence to prove the Des-plaines river a navigable stream. Fitch is in Taxewell county, Starr is working at Joliet and Reeves is taking a deposition of Congressman Burton at Washington.

Requisition for Munn.

A requisition was issued from the executive office for the return to Litchfield of Robert Munn, under arrest at Denver, Col., on a charge of murder. Assistant State's Attorney Stuttle of Montgomery county secured the papers and Sheriff Bray and State's Attorney Hill of the same county left immediately for Colorado. Munn is wanted for the killing of William Koethe on July 4, 1905, at Litchfield.

Authorities Criticized.

Residents at Barry reported to the state board that the authorities there were not enforcing vaccination in the schools despite an outbreak of smallpox. A communication will be sent to the authorities calling their attention to the matter and insisting that the rule be kept.

To Speak for Local Option.

One speaker each week until election has been agreed upon by the Litchfield local option organization as the proper number of orators in their fight against the liquor interests. Among those who will make addresses are Assistant Attorney General C. W. Trickett of Kansas and John F. Canen, head of the Catholic Total Abstinence society. The women of the city are also active and a committee from each church met to promote a temporary organization, which will be perfected at a later meeting.

Pass State Law Examination.

The state board of law examiners reported the following named persons as having satisfactorily passed the examination for admission to the bar held at Ottawa on February 25 and 26: William F. Ater, Walter Bachrach, Wilbur C. Bacon, John Borden, Charles Nickerson Caldwell, Paul Carpenter, Carroll Caruthers, Bert Martin Cavanaugh, Lincoln R. Clark, Lawrence A. Cohen, Henry Dyorak, Clint C. Hine, George H. Hough, W. H. Jackson, Byron V. Kanaley, Chester Arthur Legg, Alexander Pitcairn Lindsay, Wayland Wells Magee, Joseph D. O'Donnell, John H. Passmore, Jesse Quitman, Neal D. Reardon, Frank P. Schelner, Emil Seidenglanz, Marshall Solberg, Hyman Soboroff, Harold G. Sperling, Charles P. Starke, Samuel A. Strauss, Chicago; W. G. Armstrong, Dixon; Alexander Falconer Beaubien, Waukegan; Edward R. Branson, Petersburg; Mallory L. Burroughs, Edwardsville; James Stewart Clarke, Staunton; William Debusk, Park Ridge; Guy P. Denton, Elmhurst; James Dwight Dickerson, Evanston; Ezra J. Frantz, Decatur; Charles S. Gibbs, Springfield; James P. Graham, Illinois; Victor R. Griggs, Kewanee; Eugene F. Hargot, Fairfield; James V. Holdingar, Fairfield; George Arthur Kelly, Ottawa; Edward L. Maher, Venice; William Charles McNitt, Evanston; Ira Rymer, Wilmette; Arthur J. Tripp, Belvidere.

Plan "Board of Control."

There is every indication that the legislature, when it reconvenes May 4, will be given an opportunity to solve the asylum muddle by the simple expedient of passing the proposed "board of control" bill. Every member of the legislature's asylum investigating body, after a month of delving into the institution files and abuses of all sorts, favors such a plan. It is understood that such a measure as outlined by Representative David Shanahan, chairman of the house appropriation committee, is being drawn up roughly and will receive the official indorsement of the committee. With all the members of the investigating body in Chicago recently, a general summing up of the evidence in hand took place and the board of control idea was advanced as the best method of preventing the abuses which have been uncovered during the course of the present probe.

Knocks Out Double Taxation.

The Illinois supreme court holds that the local school boards in six districts of Cook county and the township boards controlling the high schools in the same districts have no authority to levy each a tax of 2½ per cent. or a total of five per cent. on one district. The high schools affected are those of Barrington, Palatine, Maywood, Riverside, Blue Island and Morgan Park. They are controlled by a township board superimposed upon the school district, which is regulated by the local board. The law provides that members of a township board have equal powers with school directors. The supreme court holds that while the boards are legally organized the attempt of each to levy a tax of 2½ per cent. under the law is unwarranted.

Templeton Would Be Auditor Again.

James W. Templeton, who was a candidate for the Republican nomination for state auditor in 1888, when Joseph Fifer of Bloomington was nominated for governor, has announced his candidacy for that office again, this time in the primaries and against Auditor McCullough. He has secured a long list of names in support of his candidacy and says that Auditor McCullough, having served 12 years in the office, should not ask for four more. "I could have been nominated in 1888," he said, "if it had not been that Mr. Fifer and I both were from McLean county at that time, and his nomination put the nomination of another man from that county out of the question."

County Treasurers Meet.

County treasurers from all over the state gathered in Springfield to organize a permanent association. The meeting proper was held on Wednesday, but a preliminary session of the promoters of the project was held Monday, when the program was completed and final details for the convention arranged. W. H. Eubanks, chief clerk in the office of the auditor of public accounts, addressed the convention and County Treasurer James A. Hall of Sangamon county was another speaker.

Digest of Oglesby Act.

A pocket digest of the Oglesby primary election law is being prepared by Attorney General Stead's department. The essential features of the act, appropriately subdivided and sub-headed will be embodied in the digest, together with suggestions to officers and voters as to how to proceed under its requirements. Rulings and opinions by the attorney general's office will be included. The digest will be ready for distribution in about three weeks and will be supplied to election officers and voters generally.

LOST TEMPER WAS COSTLY.

Poet Banker Threw Away and Bought Back His Own Property.

Edmund Clarence Stedman, the poet banker, had a high temper and was exceedingly sensitive. One day, exasperated by the crass stupidity of a servant, he threw a book at his head. The book ducked and the book sailed out of the window. After it hurried the mental, but he was too late; a passerby had picked it up and walked off with it. Stedman began to wonder what book he had thrown away, and to his horror discovered that it was a quaint and rare little volume for which he had paid $50. His chagrin was intense, as the work was almost unique and the prospects of replacing it were remote.

Some time afterward, when browsing in a second-hand book shop, our splenetic poet banker perceived to his great delight a copy of the very book he had lost. He asked the price. "It's very rare," replied the dealer, "but as you are an old customer I'll let you have it for $40; nobody else could have it for less than $60." Stedman gladly paid the $40, got home with his treasure as soon as possible, and sat down to gloat over it. A card dropped out of the leaves. It was his own. Further examination showed that he had bought back his property. It cured him of casting books at servants' heads.—New York Press.

Sunday School Lessons for the World.

A power greater than that of kings seems to have been wielded by the little group of thoughtful men who gathered at the Fenway residence of W. N. Hartsborn to select the lessons for the Sunday schools of the world, says the Boston Herald. Every year they gather to make this choice, and when a decision has been reached the lessons are handed out to the printers and by them literally scattered over the planet. The word thus goes forth not in one but in scores of languages. Europe and Africa, east and west, north and south, get these helps to religious study in the vernacular. There is a supply for Hawaii, Japan and the islands of the sea. For India alone 40 dialects have to be provided for. Some 500,000,000 Sunday school leaflets are thus distributed every year.

With an Eye to the Future.

Queen Alexandra attended last spring's annual Mansion House fete in London, and because of that auspicious fact there is a tale to tell—and worth the while. One of the diminutive flower maidens was both pretty and plump, and when her majesty stopped for an instant to smile down upon her, what did she do but put up her wee (and tempting) mouth for a kiss, which she received.

"Molly!" gasped her astounded mother, and after the distinguished visitor had passed on, "how could you!" And Molly gave a good reason. "I fought," said she. "It 'ud be interest in' to tell my grandchildren."—Harper's Weekly.

Wonderful Phraseology.

A party of American tourists who were comfortably established in a hotel in Germany discovered a new contribution to "English as she is spoken," only this time they found it in the written word. The building had been recently wired for electricity and under the bulbs in each room directions were posted in French, German and English. The French was irreproachable, the German nearly so. The English read as follows: "To open and shut the lightning electric on, is requested to turn to the right hand. On going to bed it must be closed. Otherwise the lightning must be paid."

Where it Belongs.

"Excuse me," said the playwright to his friend who was hissing the piece, "do you think it is good form to hiss my show when I gave you the ticket that admitted you?"

"Certainly," resolutely replied the friend. "If I'd bought a ticket I would have contented myself by going outside and swearing at myself."—Success Magazine.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Speaker Edward D. Shurtleff has announced his withdrawal from the race for the republican nomination for governor. This leaves Mr. Yates, Mr. Deneen and Judge Willard M. McEwen in the fight. Judge McEwen will not withdraw at present, according to his friends.

Nearly three hundred New York clergymen have petitioned congress not to increase the navy, arguing that the United States now pays 65 per cent of its revenues for its military establishment. And yet, there are those who believe that at least a competent military establishment is the surest preventive of war. The President is one of these, and Secretary Taft is another.

Up to Sunday, February 23, seventy-six delegates had been elected to the Republican National Convention. Of that number forty-eight are instructed for Taft, twenty-six for Fairbanks and two are uncommitted. Only fourteen delegates from Ohio had been elected and all are instructed for Taft. The remaining thirty-four Taft delegates come from states other than Ohio. No candidate other than Taft has thus far secured any delegate outside of his own state. The gentlemen in public life who have been talking about the collapse of the Taft boom have begun to take notice.

Every civil service reformer in the United States ought at once to write a protest to his member of congress and his senator against the purpose of congress to ignore civil service methods in organizing the census bureau. The President has protested most earnestly and the people should uphold his hands. Don't be deceived, either, by the specious assertion that no clerk will be admitted who does not pass an examination. This was true of the last census and yet, as the President has said, the examinations were a mere sham to hide a gross prebendation of the spoils system.

There seems to be little doubt that the Shipping bill will become a law at this session of congress. This is another measure which has always suffered from the character of the men who have promoted it. This year's measure is free from serious faults and is so simple and straightforward that republicans will do well to support it. It merely authorizes the postmaster general to pay the same rates for carrying the mails, to second class vessels making regular sailings between this country and South American and Asiatic ports as he now pays to first class vessels sailing to all ports. Second class means, of course, vessels making a second—not the fastest—rate of speed.

That submarine boat business looks like an extremely unsavory mess. Two newspapers correspondents have been smirched, and there is reflection on most of the members of the House committee on Naval Affairs. It is sincerely to be hoped that Speaker Cannon will abandon his attitude of belittling the affair and will appoint a committee which will probe it to the bottom. President Roosevelt, when he found that he had inherited a postoffice scandal from a previous administration, demonstrated that the best politics in the world is to probe a festering sore to the bottom make public all the facts, expose the culprits and then have a new deal. It takes a big, courageous man to adopt that course, but the heartiness with which the people endorsed Mr. Roosevelt's cause in 1904, demonstrated the soundness of his methods. The American people love the open frank, manly course and politicians would do well to realize that fact.

IN MEMORIAM

I loving remembrance of H. J. Midden-dorf who died Feb. 10, 1908:

Farewell dear father, sweet thy rest,
Weary with years and worn with pain;
Farewell, till in some happy place
We shall behold thy face again.

'Tis ours to miss thee all these years,
And tender memories of thee keep;
Thine, in the Lord to rest, for so
He giveth his beloved sleep.

M. E. B.

In memory of little George, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Evans, of Trevor, Wis., who departed this life January 27, 1908, aged 5 years:

I shall miss him when the flowers come,
In the garden where he played;
I shall miss him more by the fireside
When the flowers are all decayed.
I shall see his toys and his empty chair,
And the horse he used to ride;
And they will speak with a silent speech
Of the little boy that died.

We shall all go home to our Father's house,
To our Father's home in the skies,
Where the hope of our soul shall have no blight.

And our love no broken ties;
We shall roam on the banks of the River of Peace.

And bathe in its blissful tide;
And one of the joys of Heaven shall be
The little boy that died.

Dinner Time.

The dinner bell should be a signal for the happiest time of the day. Every member of the family should go to the table in his most genial mood. Each one should bring his best, brightest and most cheerful things to it. No one should be allowed to complain or relate his or her troubles there. The assembling round the dinner table should be an occasion for the fun and laughter and cheerful talk—the enemies of indigestion.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach; I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by J. H. Swan.

Doing Chores.

To dig one's own potatoes, to shock one's own corn, to pick one's own apples, to pile one's own squashes at one's own barn! It is like filling one's system with an antidote before going into a fever-plagued country. One is immune to winter after this, provided he stays to bask his apples in his own wood fire. One works himself into a glow with all his digging, and picking and piling that lasts until warm weather comes again; and along with this harvest glow comes stealing over him the after-harvest peace. It is the serenity of Indian summer, the mood of the after-harvest season, upon him—upon him and his fields and woods.—Dallas Lore Sharp, in Atlantic.

Sealskin.

Fifteen years ago a full length seal-skin coat could be had for $500 or $600. The same coat to-day would cost from $900 to $1,400. A three-quarter length coat would cost from $700 to $1,200, according to the quality of the fur used.

Easy to Swallow Raw Eggs.

Raw eggs are bloodmakers and may be taken in any way one wishes. The simplest method of getting them down is to take a shallow wine glass, put in a drop of clear lemon juice and then break the egg in this, taking care not to injure the yolk. Over this put about four drops of lemon, scattered, to make the egg go down easily with one swallow. This is readily accomplished if the head is held back and the contents of the glass tossed into the back of the mouth. Eight eggs a day are none too much when one is trying to recuperate.

Woman's Chief Weapon.

Woman, having no other means at her disposal for vanquishing and attacking men to her chariot-wheels, has for many long centuries had to rely entirely on coquetry. It is not astonishing, therefore, that this weapon is deeply ingrained in the feminine soul—has become, in fact, an instinct at once conscious and involuntary—and that it now constitutes one of woman's most fundamental characteristics.—The Grand Magazine.

BELTS IN PATENT LEATHER.

Stylish Fashion Has Again Come Into Popular Favor.

Patent leather belts have come into their own again. They are very stylish on all cloth suits. They are very narrow, the stiff ones running only an inch wide, but the more fashionable ones are in soft leather that fit into the figure and curve in and out at the waist line. These are expensive, but they wear well and are very superior to the stiff ones in shape and in curve.

With the stiff old-fashioned belt there is always the trouble of having it ride up above the skirt belt. It is too unwieldy to go down over it, and, no matter how high the skirt is hooked up on the waist, the belt rides that much higher.

These belts do not have fancy buckles or even the broad gilt buckle used on the soft suede belts, but are fastened through plain black ones covered with the kid.

The undressed kid ones are exceedingly stylish and come in every color to tone into the skirt. The buckles on these are narrow and made of gilt or silver, but without jewels.

TO LIGHTEN NORTH ROOM.

Various Devices by Which Apartment May Be Improved.

No one wants a gloomy room, but what to do with one facing north is often a difficult problem.

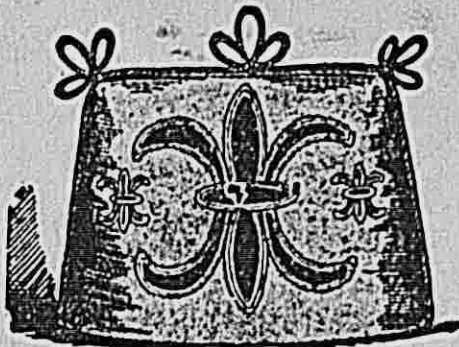

Some people do without curtains to allow all the light possible to come into the room; but it is not so much light that one needs as sunshine, and when this cannot be had, one must make it, or rather, get the effect of it. Try having it papered with a soft yellow paper. A good plan is to have a light yellow on the walls as far as the picture molding, and a lighter shade, almost cream, above this and on the ceiling. Then yellow silk sash curtains pulled back tend to make a room appear sunny, says Home Chat.

Brass can make a wonderful difference to a dreary room. A large jardiniere, with a plant in it, placed in a dark corner, will lighten up the corner marvelously. Brass fireirons too, will give a cheery reflection, even candlesticks help, and little trays and bowls, be they ever so small. The importance of brass in a sunless room cannot be too strongly emphasized. Mirrors brighten it up, and so do some pictures with well polished glasses and gilded frames.

TEA COSY IN APPLIQUE WORK.

Illustration Gives Idea for Very Pretty Table Ornament.

Now that applique work of every kind is so fashionable our readers will, no doubt, be interested in the accompanying illustration, which shows a design for a very novel tea cosy to be decorated entirely with work of this description. The cover itself is of pale green satin, bound at the edges with gold silk cord. The applique designs, which are the same on both sides of the cosy, are carried out in darker green velvet, outlined with gold braid. The large central design is repeated in a smaller size on either side. In an ordinary teapot the cosy should be made about 11 inches wide and 9 inches deep.

Fur Trimmings.

Fur as a trimming on dressy wraps of cloth, silk or satin or lace is beautiful. For this use the darker shades and seals are chosen, these contrasting artistically with the faint pinks, delicate blues and soft, creamy whites of the evening wraps and gowns. The delicate toning of the material brings out all the richness of the fur, while the fur enriches the material immeasurably. No great amount, however, is employed for the reason that all tendency to weight is obviated as much as possible, in order to protect the perishable laces, chiffons and spangled nets of the gowns over which the elaborate evening coat is worn. When the fur and fur-lined coat is a part of the evening toilette a soft gauzy scarf is swathed around the shoulders before the coat is slipped on. This keeps the weight of the outer garment off the shoulders and prevents the possibility of muzzling fluffy frills and jabots of laces, chiffon and still more diaphanous malinnettes which so effectively trim evening gowns this winter.

Doing Away with Wrinkles.

A woman—one kind of woman, that is—will resort to almost anything to blot off her face the friendly wrinkles etched by time and experience. The latest device for making the skin of a mature dame smooth and peachy as an infant's is a kind of head girle made of soft satin. This is put on over the face, and is cleverly constructed so that the wrinkles are smoothed out and the skin of the face firmly held from slipping into creases again. Of course one wears this interesting apparatus only at night.

To Reduce the Size of Ankles.

Physical culture exercises are given to reduce the size of the ankles; also massage and vibratory massage are very beneficial.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

A task. To be honest, to be kind, to earn a little and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence; to renounce when that shall be necessary, and not to be embittered; to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation; above all, on the same given condition, to keep friends with himself, here is a task for all that man has of fortitude and delicacy.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Pain can be quickly stopped. A 25 cent box of Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets will kill any pain everywhere, in 20 minutes! Besides they are thorough safe. Painful periods with women, neuralgia etc., quickly cease after one tablet. Sold by J. H. Swan.

All That Was Necessary.

A man who bored all his friends with his incessant talking prided himself on being able to hypnotize people. One day while asserting this and perceiving signs of incredulity on his friends' faces he turned to one of them and said:

"In order to prove it to you I will make you go to sleep if you like."

"Certainly," replied the friend; "you have only to speak."

Not a Good Carver.

"I never was so disappointed in my life!" said Mrs. Gotrox. "I invited a few choice souls to dinner the other day and asked Dr. Cuttem, the celebrated surgeon, to carve for me. I expected that he could carve beautifully, and would you believe he actually spoiled the fowl! I wouldn't have him operate on me for the world."

Croup positively checked in 20 minutes. Dr. Shoop's 20 minute Croup Remedy acts like Magic. No vomiting nothing harsh. A simple, safe, pleasant, dependable croup syrup. 50c. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Pursuit of Pleasure.

Cast an eye into the gay world; what we see, for the most part, but a set of querulous, emaciated, fluttering, fantastical beings, worn out in the keen pursuit of pleasure; creatures that know, own, condemn, deplore, yet still pursue their own infelicity? The decayed monuments of error! The thin remains of what is called delight!

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, small, safe, sure, little liver pills. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Possibilities in Everyone.

Brother, thou hast possibilities in thee for much—the possibility of writing on the eternal skies the record of a heroic life. That noble, down-fallen or yet unborn "Impossibility," thou canst lift it up, thou canst, by thy soul's travail, bring it into clear being.—Carlyle.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn boy growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of rheumatism; but now, at last, I can finally cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real help—no actual excuse to suffer longer with out help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

EXPERIENCES AFLOAT

The Funny Things One Sees in
Smiling Round the World

By
MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

To one accustomed only to Atlantic travel the element of novelty begins at once on a Pacific steamer. Instead of smug English stewards, neat Chinamen in spotless linen gowns of blue, long cues, immaculate white stockings, and the broadest of smiles, fly nimbly about carrying baggage or waiting on passengers with most cheerful disparity.

The Chinese stewards interested us exceedingly, and when, directly after sailing from San Francisco, we descended to luncheon, we saw them in a new way. The long tables in the saloon were laid out invitingly with massive silver, and piles of fruit, around which the neat boys whisked, making an attractive picture. Here we received our first introduction to the far-famed "pidgin English," which we had previously conceived to be very largely a figment of the story-teller's brain. It was to be later impressed upon us how universal the use of it is, from San Francisco right through to Ceylon, wherever the Chinese cooie lives and moves and has his being.

In the dining saloon the boys wore long gowns of blue linen, shiny with starch, high cuffs over their sleeves, and each smooth and jolly cue finished at the end with a silk tassel, neatly tucked through a little strap at the side of the gown. This is to keep it from slipping over the shoulder when stooping over the tables.

When at hard or outdoor work, a Chinaman will twist his cue up like a woman, but never in the house, as it is a disrespectful act to appear before a superior with the cue bound up. Foreigners in many cases do not know this, and the Chinaman, who instinctively hates all foreigners, will often resort to this method of insulting them, taking a deal of comfort out of it, even though the foreigner may be in blissful ignorance of the intended disrespect.

Some of the dining-saloon boys had been in the service long enough to speak and understand English very well; with others it was necessary to resort to the "pidgin" dialect which is a ridiculous hybrid of baby talk, broken, or rather mangled, English, and a few stray Chinese words.

It was my luck to draw a waiter who was particularly shy on straight English, and when I asked for a nice piece of rare roast beef, and vegetables such as my wife had, his face remained as blank as a newly white-washed barn door. Seeing my perplexity, a kind neighbor taught me what to say, and, though feeling rather silly, I repeated: "Boy, you ketchee me number one piece roast beef, no too well done, and vegetables allee same lady have got." His face beamed with intelligence, and my order was executed with neatness and dispatch.

I subsequently discovered that if a chair was desired from the upper deck an order in plain English would not be understood. But say to him, "Boy, you go topside, ketchee my one piece chair, bring to me." He will depart cheerfully, knowing just what you mean.

"Pidgin" is the Chinese word for "business," and a great many years ago this motley means of communication was evolved, piece by piece, as a medium through which the English-speaking traders carried on business with the Chinese. Despite the fact that numbers of Chinese, especially the merchants, speak excellent English, this absurd pidgin has held its own, and it is a benighted Chinaman, indeed, who cannot conjure up a few lame phrases. It is a means of communication, even among Chinamen, so it is said; for the different provinces of that country differ in dialect as so many countries, but with a little of the universal "pidgin" they make themselves understood.

During our entire trip across the Pacific we were never off an almost even keel. It was so different from my first ocean trip, which was across the Atlantic. I'll never forget that. I hadn't been feeling well, and was told that the sea voyage would make another man of me. Imagine making another man of me, when there was hardly enough material for one!

Well, the minute the ship left the dock I felt better. I threw out my chest—and a lot of other things I didn't need—and prepared to enjoy life.

By the time we got to Sandy Hook the ship was having St. Vitus dance, and most of the passengers decided to go below to unpack. I started to find my stateroom, and I think I butted into every one there was. I was finally hurled into one just as the occupant, a lady, was climbing into the upper berth. She said, "Sir!" Then the ship went the other way, and I was never so completely sat on by a lady in my life!

At last I found my own stateroom, which was a locker with a couple of shelves in it.

The ship now seemed to stand on her nose and wag her tail in the air; I deliberated whether I should close the port hole and go to my berth, or close my berth and go to the port hole. On the fourth day I began to take notice of things, and crawled out on deck just as the ship was doing a buck and wing. I was shot from one end of the ship to the other, finishing with a head-on collision with a fat man's stomach. He was mad because I butted in on his breakfast. I apologized for the intrusion, and crawled into a steamer chair.

It was so rough they had a fence built 'round the table to keep the dishes on. I was pursuing a piece of bread when the ship did a "figure eight" and the lady opposite got my bread and I got her fish. For the rest of the meal we fed each other.

The day it was roughest the passengers asked me to get up a concert. There was a prima donna on board who was having her voice cultivated in Paris. I supposed she was going over to get it, for she certainly didn't have it with her. She consented to take part in the concert, and chose a fitting selection for a "rough night"—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Just as she started in to sing the ship side-stepped and threw her under the table. A friend of mine was accompanying her on the piano, so, of course, he had to follow her. I said: "For heaven's sake, is this a concert or a knockabout act?" The prima donna thought she was down for a solo—but she was down for an hour.

On the Pacific there were no such experiences for us. And it is such a great, big, lonesome ocean—only once in all the 18 days did we see a ship, a big, full-rigged ship with all sails set—but seeming to stand perfectly still, utterly becalmed, "a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

Captain Porter was a delightful raconteur and entertained us on several occasions with stories of his sojourn in the frigid zone. His tales of Esquimaux dainties, especially a duck soup, where the bird is put in for cooking not only undressed but unplucked, made us glad there were no Esquimaux cooks on board.

The evening before our expected arrival at Honolulu the chief topics of conversation were the principal sights of the town, and the best methods of seeing them.

Every one retired with the keenest anticipations, for even six days on the water create a longing to see land, proving that man, though he go down to the sea in ships, is beyond question a land animal.

Most of us were up betimes and were rewarded by the sight of a dark, low-lying island on our port bow. This is Molokai, the leper island and the scene of Father Damien's heroic life and death. This Belgian missionary priest, who started life a simple unlettered peasant, so lived and worked and died that his name will ever be one of those who need no hall of fame to make their memory immortal. His will go ringing down the halls of time as one that loved his fellow men.

Ahead, another island, with high, rocky promontory, stood out now quite plainly. As we came nearer we could distinguish fleets of little fishing boats, their white sails dotting the blue water like flocks of birds. A snowy sickle of sand outlined the black and beetling cliff, and around it came the little "Alameda," rolling and plunging in a swell that did not even disturb the stately calm of our giants.

It was noon before we really warped to the wharf, alongside of which was a United States naval training ship, whose band welcomed us, accompanied by the shouts of the white-clad boys.

WINTER WHEAT CROP

HE REALIZED $38 PER ACRE. HIS OATS $37 PER ACRE IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA, WESTERN CANADA.

Coaldale, Alta., Can., Nov. 19, 1907. Sir: I beg to say that this year we had 349 acres of grain, consisting of 197 acres of spring wheat and 152 acres of oats. The average yield of wheat was 38 bushels per acre and oats 74 bushels. We were offered $1.00 per bushel for wheat and 50 cents for oats, making the acre value for the two crops $38.00 and $37.00 respectively.

We also had 50 tons of hay worth $13.00 per ton, and 500 bushels of potatoes, worth 60 cents per bushel, the latter of 2 1/2 acres of ground. Our best yields this year were 107 acres of wheat, making 41 bushels per acre at $1.00 per bushel, would be $41.00 per acre; 47 acres of oats, yielding 95 bushels per acre were sold for 50 cents per bushel. Proceeds, $47.00 per acre.

I might add that 50 acres of our oats were "stubbled in."

During the spring of 1906, we hired about 300 acres broken by steam. We put in and harvested 55 acres of grain last year, did the remainder of our breaking, worked up the ground and seeded this year's entire crop, put in seven acres of alfalfa and five acres of garden potatoes, trees, etc., all with one four-horse team. During harvest we hired other teams, but, aside from this, and part of the breaking, the one team did the work of raising practically 19,000 bushels of grain, worth $12,000.

Yours truly,
W. H. PAWSON, JR.

WINTER WHEAT 25 TO 30 BUSH-ELS TO THE ACRE IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA.

Warner, Alta., Canada, Jan. 9, 1908.

Dear Sir: This is the first year of farming in this settlement. Mr. A. L. Warner raised twenty-five hundred and fifteen bushels of fine winter wheat on one hundred acres of breaking and Tenny brothers had sixty acres that went thirty bushels per acre. The winter wheat that is in this year looks fine.

Spring wheat here went thirty bushels per acre, oats fifty to eighty, barley fifty, and flax ten to fifteen on sod.

The settlers here are all well pleased with the country. The stock have not required any feed except the grass up to this date and are all fat.

Yours truly,
F. S. LEFFINGWELL.

Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too—Relieved on Cuticura Remedies.

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. I tried almost everything, but failed. Then my mother recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment, Cuticura. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on his neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. Mme. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

The Flatterer.

The tramp had applied to the farmer's wife for assistance.

"You have a beautiful voice, lady," he said.

She looked interested.

"Have I?"

"Yes, ma'am; I'd rather hear you say no, lady, than most other women say yes."

Then she drove back the dog and gave the wanderer half a loaf and a chunk of cold beef.

Damage Done by Rats.

"The western farmer is waking up to a realization of the fact that he is, as the agricultural department told him some time ago, losing not less than $100,000,000 a year from rats," says J. H. Van Burden, a Milwaukee grain merchant. "It costs about 50 cents a year to feed a rat. We know this because we have boxed them up and fed them as much grain as they would eat for a year. It is a conservative estimate to place our rat population at 150,000,000. About one-third of them live in the large cities, where they do not get so much grain."

"Why, you promised to take me there on our bridal trip. Don't you think you had better be a little careful that it does not dry up before we get there?"

"Scouse of lob-scouse, a parson's face seaple, junk, tack, slush and duff—there's a meal ye can't beat nowhere," said the sailor.

"Yes," he went on, "ye can talk about yer ris do veau, yer vol-au-vent, yer mousses, and other French dishes, but they ain't none o' them in it with good sea fare dished up by a good tea lawyer.

"Scouse is soup, soup made o' salt beef. Add some good sea vegetables to it, stich as spud sprouts and split peas, and ye get an extra fine soup, what is generally called lob-scouse. Pot-~~o~~-feu is slops beside a rich lob-scouse.

"Foller up yer scouse with a parson's face seaple. That's a ple made of bullock's head. Good? Why, friend, there ain't nothin' like it on earth.

"Junk is salt beef. Junk ain't no brain food; it don't strengthen the mind like a correspondence course; out, by tar, I'd rather have it than caneton a la presse or a supreme de sole.

PERSIA TARGET

saved by a Shrewdness... Threw.

Alcorta of Argentina, Is the Target—Bomb Falls to Him and Nobody Is Hurt.

Argentine, Feb. 2.—Dr. J. E. Alcorta, president of the republic, was the object of an abortive assassination attempt at the hands of a man named Solano. The assassin fired a bomb at the president, but the bomb failed to explode. Alcorta was not hurt. The following statement regarding the attempt was given out:

Doctor Kicked the Bomb. Alcorta was walking from his office at 6 p. m. when an assassin, who afterwards was identified as an Argentine of mixed blood named Solano, dropped at the president's feet a bomb which, happily, did not explode. Dr. Alcorta with great promptness kicked the infernal machine away from him, while his aide-de-camp, Captain Anabla, seized the criminal and prevented his escape. The police immediately procured a pail of water in which they placed the bomb, which emitted a sulphurous odor.

Three Other Men Arrested.

"President Alcorta meantime had turned to expostulate with his would-be assassin, but owing to the possibility of the bomb still exploding he was gently forced by his aide-de-camp up on the porch of his residence. The police afterwards arrested three men in the neighborhood as suspects. The bomb was on a common paint can, and it contained about ten kilowatt batteries. His excellency showed no perturbation during the incident, attributing the act to a mad mind."

Refuses to Talk.

Refuses to give any information regarding his action, though he admitted he was the emissary of this is not the first time president of the Argentine has been threatened with death. In August, 1905, a Spanish Planas Vivella approached Alcorta's carriage with a revolver in his hand, but before he could fire he was disarmed and his hand was broken.

TWO BOMBS FOR THE SHAH

One of Them Kills Three Men, the Other Is Unhurt.

Teheran, Persia, Feb. 26.—A Mohammed Ali Mirza, shah of Persia, narrowly escaped death at the hands of an assassin. A bomb was thrown from the roof of a house at the shah's automobile, in which it was supposed he was a passenger, the explosion killing three of the vehicle's escorts and wounding the chauffeur and score of bystanders. The shah had the precaution to send his automobile in front of the vehicle which occupied, and to this foresight he owes his escape from death.

Two bombs were thrown, but the first exploded in the air and did no damage. The second, however, struck the ground a few feet from the automobile and tore the vehicle pieces. The assassins believed the shah was in the motor car, which was closed, but which it developed carried no passengers. When the explosion occurred the shah's car was some distance from the rear of the automobile and the ruler immediately left his car and took refuge in a nearby store, where he quietly remained until a detachment of troops was brought up. As soon as the troops arrived on the scene the shah was surrounded by a strong guard and returned to the palace.

The cavalry escort which immediately followed the shah, began firing wildly in all directions. Twelve persons are known to have been injured by bullets from the weapons. The street in the vicinity of the explosion was filled with the dead and mangled with the wounded, but no arrests have been made.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The shah of Persia will receive congratulations of the United States. This message has been conveyed to him by Jackson at Teheran. The shah's escape from the assassin's hands is a fortunate event.

A moral, sensible man will not insult me. —Cowper.

TAFT AND BRYAN TALKING

One in Mississippi and the Other in the East Do Some Spell-binding.

New York, March 2.—Secretary Taft addressed the Brooklyn Bar association at its annual banquet, his subject being "The Constitution of the United States." He carefully excluded politics from his speech, and devoted himself to calling attention to laws that were needed and which are authorized by the constitution. Among which was one to provide for the protection of aliens in their treaty rights. He went from here to Springfield, Mass., where he addressed the Y. M. C. A. on the work of that body.

Jackson, Miss., March 2.—William J. Bryan addressed the legislature and several thousand citizens in the Century theater. His address throughout was a repetition of what he had said in former addresses and at its conclusion he left for the north. While he was here he declared that money was being used by the "predatory interests" to obtain control of the Denver convention.

Evidences of Long Ago Murder.

New York, March 2.—Workmen excavating for a new building on Oak street near the waterfront found the remains of three human skeletons in the bottom of an old and long disused cesspool. The police ascertained that many years ago there was a sailors' boardinghouse and saloon on the spot where the bones were found. Probably the skeletons are those of sailors who were robbed and murdered.

Monument to B. F. Stephenson.

Washington, March 2.—The commission appointed to select a statue to commemorate Benjamin F. Stephenson, founder of the Grand Army of the Republic, has accepted the design of a triangular shaft thirty feet in height, with groups of symbolical figures on each side.

Woman of Eighty Murdered.

Salisbury, Mo., March 2.—One of the most brutal and atrocious murders ever committed in this city was revealed when the body of Mrs. Daniel Grisham, a widow eighty years old, was found lying in her home. The crime was committed by robbers.

Chicago Americans Go West.

Chicago, March 2.—Some twenty players of the Chicago American League baseball club, headed by C. A. Comiskey, president of the organization, have left here for Los Angeles, where the spring training season of the team is to be inaugurated.

Japs Show Their Mettle.

Nogales, A. T., March 2.—Due to Luis A. Martinez, a prominent banker and merchant near Guaymas, Mex., show that the Japanese employes made a determined resistance, and finally drove fifty Yagui's away. Two Japanese were killed and six wounded.

House Passes the Army Bill.

Washington, March 2.—The army appropriation bill was passed by the house, the total amount carried by it being $84,757,566. The Fowler currency bill was favorably reported. Adjourned until Monday.

The senate was not in session.

Strike of Granitecutters.

Barre, Vt., March 2.—The men employed in granite cutting operations in Barre, Montpelier and other places in this vicinity have gone on strike because the employers refuse to raise the wages to a minimum of 40 cents an hour instead of 37½ cents.

Seven Terrorists Hanged.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—The seven terrorists who were condemned to death by a courtmartial for complicity in a plot against the lives of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholasovich and M. Chtcheglovitch, minister of justice, were hanged at daybreak yesterday. Among those who suffered death were Calvino, the supposed Italian, who had in his possession when arrested a passport issued to the real Calvino, and three women, two of them aged eight and nineteen years, respectively.

Scout Cruiser Is a Flyer.

Portland, Me., March 2.—With an average of 26.53 knots per hour to her credit the scout cruiser Chester has returned here from her four hours' endurance run at top speed. Her maximum speed for any fifteen minutes during that time was 26.8 knots an hour. She is supplied with turbines of the British type.

Uncle Jerry.

"If ever Opportunity knocked at my door," grumbled Uncle Jerry Peabees, "he must have come in the night time, and had big boxing gloves on his hands—and I'm a light sleeper, too!"

THEY FAIL TO STAND

Those Indictments Against Judge Grosscup and Others, on Trial at Charleston.

JUDGE THOMPSON SO DECIDES

Says, However, That Someone Was to Blame for the Trolley Line Tragedy—Items.

Charleston, Ill., Feb. 27.—Announcement was made by Judge Thompson to the counsel trying the charges against Judge Grosscup and others that he had sustained the motion of the defense for an order quashing the indictments against Judge Grosscup and other directors of the Central Illinois Traction company, charged with manslaughter due to negligence which caused the wreck near this city on Aug. 30 last in which eighteen persons were killed.

Dismaster a Serious Matter.

"I believe, and may as well say at the outset, that this entire matter is a serious matter in a great many ways," began Judge Thompson. "It is a serious matter not only to the defendants who stand charged with a felony, but the occurrence which led to the indictments in this county was a serious matter to the inhabitants of this county, and especially to those in the car at the time of the unfortunate wreck, and I am not unmindful of the feeling that has existed in this county, and I am not unmindful of the fact that some one or more persons are to blame directly for that accident."

Must Have Been a Cause.

"In the natural course of events things of that kind cannot occur except for some cause. There must have been necessarily a dereliction of duty upon the part of some one or more persons that caused the wreck in this county last August." The judge then stated at length his reasons for holding the indictments faulty.

Agred Man Puts in a Plea.

Something of a sensation was caused by the case of a note sent to Judge Thompson by an aged man, supposedly with the intention of influencing the verdict. The note was as follows: "If God will forgive, let the lower court forgive. Amen. A. Walton." Walton is a septuagenarian living in the southern portion of Coles county. He was once an inmate of the hospital for the insane.

SOLD HIS LOTTERY TICKET

Only Got a Dollar for It and It Turned Out To Be Worth $15,000.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 25.—After selling a lottery ticket worth $15,000 for $1, a man named Arnold, for $1, he discovered his mistake. Vonderheisen discovered his mistake, but unavailingly filled with poignant regret when he learned that he had missed the opportunity of exchanging poverty for comparative affluence. Vonderheisen took to drink. For two or three years he steadily went down hill. A few days ago the tragedy of the lottery ticket had its denouement when he died in the Peoria county poorhouse.

The friend who bought the ticket from Vonderheisen, well knowing its value, now lives in prosperity on the prize money.

Deep Waterway Indorsed.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 20.—Indorsement of the deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf was the feature of the concluding session of the Illinois Farmers' Grain Dealers' association convention here. The convention also favored the creation of a nonpartisan tariff commission along the lines of the Beveridge bill in order that foreign markets for American farm products be protected and enlarged. The convention elected Thomas Lamb, of Bement, president, and J. A. McCreary, of Mason City, sec. gen.

Rage of a Woman Scorned.

Rock Falls, Ill., Feb. 20.—Mrs. William Bradshaw gave a woman accused of trifling with her husband's affections a sound whipping on the street when they met. Mrs. Bradshaw struck her alleged rival several times with a lash which she had concealed in her clothing, inflicting two great purple welts on her face and cutting her lips. The name of the woman whipped could not be secured, as she is a comparative stranger here.

Shy Amateurs.

"Splendid spectacles," that is the definition towards which athletics in England are gradually drifting, and chiefly, it is to be feared, upon the current of highly trained professionalism. The ordinary man, conscious of his own mediocre ability, is afraid to venture into the field.—North China Herald.

Two Story Bed Appears.

Among the new inventions for flats, where room is at a premium, are the two and three-story beds or cots of enameled iron. They certainly have the advantage of being room savers, whatever their defects from the standpoint of beauty may be. In width they are about the size of ordinary single beds. Each is furnished with a woven wire spring, mattress and pillow.

Saved by Hope.

We are saved by hope. Never man hoped too much, or repented that he had hoped. The plague is that we don't hope in God half enough. Hope never hurt any one—never yet interfered with duty; nay, it always strengthens to the performance of duty, gives courage, and clears the judgment. Hope is the most rational thing in the universe.—George MacDonald.

Five Children at a Birth.

Staubenville, O., Feb. 20.—Five perfectly formed children were born here to Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell. Three of the babies died within an hour after their birth. One boy and one girl will live, it is said. Three of the children were boys. Mrs. Campbell weighs less than 100 pounds. The combined weight of the infants was twenty-three pounds. Physicians declare the case to be one of the most remarkable known to the profession.

Campbell, who is a millworker, has four brothers. To the family of two of these twins have been born, and each of the other brothers is father of triplets. Campbell's first wife died at becoming the mother of triplets.

Fuses Are Made to Blow Out.

With everybody traveling more or less, usually more, in electrically driven cars and trains, the time has certainly come for general appreciation of the fact that the blowing out of fuses is nothing to excite alarm.

To be startled to "jump," as the saying is—when this happens is the privilege of all except the professional electricians. The latter are bound by professional pride to show perfect impassibility even when the sudden flash sings their fingers, and it is delightful to see how many of them have attained to this command of their nerves. To jump is one thing, however, while to fall into a senseless panic is quite another.

To blow out is the duty and destiny of fuses, and when they have done it such danger as there was is all over. Nothing worse than delay can follow, unless the passengers proceed to make wild rushes for which there is no need whatever. Travelers should keep these facts carefully in mind.—New York Times.

It Was His Friend.

A little story in German and English, accompanied by an interpreter, drifted into the Indianapolis News office. Here it is: Two Germans stepped into an auction house where a sale of watches was going on. They occupied front seats and soon attracted the attention of the auctioneer. As he dwelt upon the merits of a watch he was offering for sale to the highest bidder the auctioneer turned to the Germans from time to time as the price mounted—$6, $6.50, $7, $7.50. As the auctioneer nodded at one of the Germans there came an answering nod, which he took to be a bid.

"That fellow knows me," said one German to the other.

"Yes, sure," said the other.

The nodding kept on. Finally the auctioneer extended the watch to the nodders. "It's yours," he said. "Ten dollars. You're the buyer."

"Ach, nein," said the German. "I'm the Schwob (Swabian); mein freund heiratet der Bayer (Bavarian)."

Senate and House in Brief.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The consideration of the Indian appropriation bill and a speech by Smoot on the currency bill consumed nearly the entire time in the senate. The Indian bill was passed, and an executive session held. Adjourned until Monday.

Without a dissenting voice the house restored to the army appropriation bill the provisions to increase the pay to noncommissioned officers and men and to prohibit the private employment of army musicians for pay, both of which had gone out previously on points of order. Little progress was made with the bill.

Slept Sixteen Days and Died.

Deadwood, S. D., Feb. 20.—After sixteen days' continuous sleep Valis Ella is dead. At St. Joseph's hospital without having regained consciousness. Physicians cannot say what caused this long sleep. Ella was a railroad laborer at Rapid City. He had no accident or sickness, and an examination revealed the presence of no blood clot or other trouble.

Two Story Bed Appears.

Among the new inventions for flats, where room is at a premium, are the two and three-story beds or cots of enameled iron. They certainly have the advantage of being room savers, whatever their defects from the standpoint of beauty may be. In width they are about the size of ordinary single beds. Each is furnished with a woven wire spring, mattress and pillow.

Saved by Hope.

We are saved by hope. Never man hoped too much, or repented that he had hoped. The plague is that we don't hope in God half enough. Hope never hurt any one—never yet interfered with duty; nay, it always strengthens to the performance of duty, gives courage, and clears the judgment. Hope is the most rational thing in the universe.—George MacDonald.

Five Children at a Birth.

Staubenville, O., Feb. 20.—Five perfectly formed children were born here to Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell. Three of the babies died within an hour after their birth. One boy and one girl will live, it is said. Three of the children were boys. Mrs. Campbell weighs less than 100 pounds. The combined weight of the infants was twenty-three pounds. Physicians declare the case to be one of the most remarkable known to the profession.

TOGA IS FOR BRADLEY

Republican Elected to the United States Senate from the Blue Grass State.

FOUR DEMOCRATS DO THE TRICK

Excitement Is Great When the Bomb Is Exploded.

Unavailing Efforts Made to Induce the Bolters to Reconsider—Bryan Says It Is a Misfortune.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27.—Amid scenes of wildest excitement on the floor of the house of representatives ex-Governor William O'Connell Bradley, Republican candidate, was elected to succeed James B. McCreary in the United States senate for a term of six years beginning March 4, 1909. He received sixty-four votes, barely enough to win, and was enabled to gain victory through the assistance of four anti-Beckham Democrats—Senators H. S. McNutt and Albert Charlton and Representatives Chris Mueller and E. W. Lillard. Until this last time they had voted for Democrats for senator and their sudden rally to Bradley took the Beckham men completely by surprise.

After the First Rollcall.

The completion of the first rollcall showed Bradley, 64; Beckham, 60; Blackburn, 1; James, 1. Before the speaker could announce the result the Democrats obtained a re-capitulation and attempted to break the quorum by leaving the hall, but came back accompanied by Beckham, who authorized the withdrawal of his name and released the Democrats from the primary nomination pledge to him in hope that some other Democrat would be named who could defeat Bradley.

Attempt to Rally the Forces.

The four bolting Democrats were surrounded by life-long party friends and urged to withdraw their support from Bradley and elect James McCreary, or any Democrat they might name, but they remained obdurate, declaring that the proposition came too late. The Democratic leaders promised a caucus to select a candidate, to which the name of Beckham would not be presented, but the recalcitrants refused all offers, and the result could not be changed.

FINAL VOTING COMPLETE

One Democrat Explains Why He Voted for the Republican.

The ballot was finally completed after the Democrats finished changing their votes as follows: Bradley, 64; Beckham, 15; James, 15; McCreary, 10; Mayo, 5; Stanley, 1; Blackburn, 1; Cantrell, 1; Ellis, 1; Cammack, 1; Sullivan, 1; McElroy, 1. There was great disorder in the chamber during recapitulation, the Republicans demanding the speaker to announce the result, and the Democrats seeking to delay, hoping to induce one of the Democrats to leave Bradley. In a speech accepting his election Bradley thanked the speaker for his fair and impartial rulings. He promised to use every effort as senator to secure the repeal of the 6-cent tax on tobacco.

Representative Lillard was the only one of the Democrats to explain his vote for Bradley. He said he thought the time had come to throw off the party shackles and to break up the machine, and although he had supported the Democratic ticket for forty years he believed his vote for Bradley was the best Democratic vote he ever cast. Senator-Elect Bradley has been many times honored by the Republicans of Kentucky, being the one man of his party to serve a term as governor during the history of the state; was indorsed as the Kentucky candidate for the presidential nomination in 1890, being many times a delegate to national conventions, long the Kentucky member of the Republican national committee and having been offered, but declined, the appointment by President Harrison as minister to Korea. He is a native Kentuckian, nearly sixty-one years old, a lawyer who was admitted to the bar in 1865 by special act of the legislature, being under twenty-one years of age at the time. His home is in Louisville.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Tells a Yarn or Two and Touches on Other Topics.

"Speaking of pugilists weighing in for a fight," said Joe Humphreys, the famous manager of pugilists, to the writer recently, "I remember the time old Tom McGuire managed Patsey Sweeney and had him matched to meet Kid Broad. Tom thought Broad was pounds overweight, and the night of the fight he went into the weighing room with blood in his eyes. On the scales they had a number of weights, some twenty-five, some fifty and one a hundred pounds.

"Broad jumped on, and they put the hundred pound weight on, and he tipped the beam at exactly the right figure. McGuire pulled the weight off the scales and yelled: 'Nothin' doin'! Nothin' doin'! No one can tell me that this little thing weighs a hundred pounds. It says a hundred, I know, but you've got to show me.'

"It took an hour to explain the thing to him."

The methods employed by athletes to overcome the nervousness from which so few are free at the approach of an important event are both interesting and amusing. Perry McKee, the young Pittsburg swimmer, who has been so prominently before the public in late months, is among the worst sufferers from what he terms "the shakes." At the recent meet between the Oakland Athletic club and the East Liberty A. C. C. M., Daniels of the New York Athletic club was standing at the competitors' end of the big natatorium when he noticed McKee come from the dressing room with a big lump on his jaw that looked like a bad abscess. Full of sympathy, the champion went up to the boy and, pointing to the excrescence, asked anxiously what was the matter. McKee felt at his jaw and smiled a bit sheepishly. "Oh, that's nothing," he said. "I always put a quid of tobacco there when I'm going to race. It keeps me from getting nervous. I was a sailor boy once, you know."

Battling Nelson is now hooking it alone, but the Billy Nolan prep, has not worn off. He choked Rudolph Unholz for an equal division of the purse after Unholz had whipped him to the fringe on the bottoms of a tramp's pants. You may break, you may shatter old Bat if you will, but his love for mazuma will cling round him still.

Cheer up, boys! 'Twon't be long now afore the baseball season is here. I kin almost hear the umpires yellin' now. Our blood's wa'min' up, an' we're all talkin' an' thinkin' baseball, ain't we? Gee, sometimes after I've had a good full meal I lays me back in my ole armchair an' half shet my eyes, an' I swan-I kin a'most see old Honus Wagner runnin' down to first or second footed Elmer Flick beatin' it to second on a long hit. What it wuz real, though.

You are simply borrowing trouble when you get to worrying over the possibility of losing any of last season's baseball stars. Let the presidents and the managers walk the floor.
